Note from the Head teacher

Hello Everyone,

I trust you've had a good weekend!

On Wednesday this week, we have Mr Clarke starting with us, teaching the Red Base children but I would like to say a huge 'thank you' to Mrs Halford, who has stepped as our 'go to' supply teacher. She has helped us out countless times and the children in all the bases know her. She has been the constant, when all about is change and for that, we are extremely grateful!

On Thursday, there is an opportunity for you to come into school for an hour after drop off at 8:20, meet with other parents and do some activities with your child. I do hope you can make it.

Have a great week,

Jane

This week's inspirational quote: When we open the book; the pages are blank.

We shall put words on them ourselves.

The book is called Opportunity and this is the first chapter!
